

David Roth's virtual gig might be an excellent way to cheer up our congregation tomorrow night.

From: David Roth dr@davidrothmusic.com Subject: Online hour w/David Wednesday 3/25 7 PM EDT

Reply-To: davidrothmusic@gmail.com

Hi friends and neighbors.

Virus-free. www.avast.com I've worked with my sponsors and friends who all agree that now cannot be the time to gather together in person. Thus, all appearances through May for yours truly are suspended and will hopefully be rescheduled at a later point in time. As many independent artists are doing, I'm turning to the internet for an online get-together, and it's right upon us this week... Wednesday, March 25th 7-8 PM EDT...one crisp (!) hour and here are links:

<https://www.facebook.com/events/235965060890755/>

<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/david-roth-live-online-tickets-100835361280>

It's absolutely free (donations are in no way expected but appreciated @

<https://www.paypal.com/paypalme2/davidrothmusic>

I'll start with "Rising in Love" (from my first CD in 1993) and chronologically play one song each from ensuing recordings (I have 15 now, and we'll see how far we get in an hour). As you can imagine, streaming has never been more overworked than nowadays, so kindly pardon any technical glitches or less than record-quality sound. Know that I'll be working to learn and refine as we go in